ENSURING BETTER OUTCOMES FOR FORESTS AND MARKETS

FSC is the world’s most trusted sustainable forest management solution. As the original pioneers of forest certification, FSC has over 25 years of experience in setting the gold standard for sustainable forest management.

FSC’s unique democratic standard-setting process enables forest owners, communities and businesses to jointly make decisions on issues impacting forests today and in the future. This ensures inclusivity in finding the best solutions.

Through its global standard, unrivalled stakeholder engagement and support from businesses and NGOs, FSC is the world’s most credible solution for sustainable forest management; trusted to secure better outcomes for markets, communities and forests for today and future generations.
Forest-based textiles, such as rayon, viscose, modal or lyocell are increasingly being used in the fashion industry. If cellulose fibres come from well-managed forests they can be more environmentally friendly than synthetic fibres, such as nylon or polyester, or even natural fibres, such as cotton.

Though tree-based fibres constitute less than seven per cent of the global fibre market, their production volume has more than doubled since 1990, and the demand for them is forecasted to grow in the coming years. This growth is driven by the increasing demand for renewable and sustainable raw materials in the production of textiles. However, these materials can sometimes be sourced from high risk areas where deforestation or poor forestry practices are common. In this case, they pose a threat not only to the world’s forests, but also carry reputational risks for brands and businesses.

Consumers are worried about climate change. They are aware of the link between sustainable management and the preservation of forests – one of the world’s most precious resources. The role of forests in mitigating climate change is also widely recognised. Consumers expect companies to be part of the solution, and to sell products made with sustainable and responsibly sourced materials. As consumer demand for responsible products grows, brands that drive sustainability forward are thriving too.

The FSC certification system can help to secure a long-term source of tree-based fibres through sustainable forest management. FSC also provides an assurance of supply chain integrity from forest to end-user. FSC has been working to develop certified textile supply chains that enable manufacturers to sell clothing and other products with the FSC label.

When it comes to forest-based products, FSC certification is the most trusted sustainable choice.
THE VALUE OF FSC

FSC-certified forests have environmental, economic and social benefits

As the world’s most trusted sustainable forest management solution, FSC labelling tells customers that the materials used originate from sustainable and legal sources.

Zero deforestation
- Although trees are harvested, there is no net loss of forest over time

Environmental protection
- FSC certification requires biodiversity to be maintained, and high conservation value areas – including old growth forests – to be protected

Indigenous Peoples’ rights respected
- FSC certification requires forest inhabitants to be consulted and engaged, and cultural rights to be maintained

Fair wage and work environment for workers
- FSC certification requires training, safety and decent wages for all workers

Therefore, an FSC-certified forest gives the assurance that all these factors have been considered. That assurance then extends to all the materials coming from this forest.

FSC is not only good for forest management, it is also good for businesses using materials from FSC-certified forests.

FSC IS GLOBALLY CONSISTENT WHILE REMAINING LOCALLY RELEVANT

FSC develops policies and standards that are globally consistent – based on the same principles and criteria all around the world. These are adopted as national standards to meet local needs and allow FSC-certified companies to gain access to new international markets while keeping their sustainability claims locally valid.
FSC CERTIFICATION

Organizations of different sizes can gain FSC certification, including groups of smaller businesses that can operate under one certificate.

Forest management certification

FSC’s forest management certification is awarded to organizations managing their forest operations in socially, environmentally and economically responsible ways. The management of both natural and plantation forests falls under forest management certification.

Chain of custody certification

Any company involved in the processing or transformation of FSC-certified products (e.g. manufacturing, repackaging, or re-labelling) must obtain chain of custody certification to apply an FSC label to their products and/or sell them with an FSC claim.

FSC Trademark promotional licence

Companies that buy finished products, labelled as FSC, from an FSC-certified company may apply for a promotional licence to use the FSC trademarks in promotional materials and marketing campaigns.

Group certification

Chain-of-custody group certification is a tool available to help small businesses become FSC certified. Companies can join existing group certificates, as a more cost-effective option than becoming certified on their own.

FSC is governed by our members, who represent over 1,000 of the world’s foremost environmental, social and economic experts. Each group of these experts has an equal say in the way we work and gets regular opportunities to meet to exchange their points of view on our system. This democratic governance is one of the primary reasons why world-leading environmental NGOs back our certification scheme. They know that when we say forests for all forever, we mean it.

FSC is a member of ISEAL Alliance, the global membership organization for credible sustainable standards. ISEAL full membership means that FSC has been independently evaluated against strong codes of good practice, which support measurable change through open, rigorous and accessible standards and certification systems.

“WWF considers FSC to be the most credible and rigorous forest certification scheme currently available to ensure environmentally responsible, socially beneficial and economically viable management of forests.”
